Case No: 21 CR 317 (DLC)

United States of America,

Correction of Clerical Errors

A motion was filed by the Petitioner, Elliot Smerling, Pro Se, on November 15, 2023 pursuant to Amendment 821, which was passed by the United States Sentencing Commission on August 24, 2023. There were some small clerical errors made which have now been corrected.

They are as follows:

1. On Page 1, date of sentence was May 13, 2023, not June 1, 2022.
2. On Page 1, was level 30 not level 28.
3. On Page 5, Exhibit A was changed to have only two financial institutions with a new Exhibit A.
4. On Page 6, second paragraph, "Elliot" not "Michael" requests that his sentence be recalculated since this is not a resentencing.
5. On page 6, the Sentencing Guideline reduction is from Thirty (30) to Twenty-eight (28), not Twenty-eight (28) to twenty-six (26).

To make it easier for the court, I have attached a new motion with all the above corrections.

Thanking you in advance for your cooperation.

Sincerely yours,

Elliot Smerling 11/28/23

Elliot Smerling,

Petitioner

vs.

Case No: 21 CR 317 (DLC)

United States of America,

Respondent

Motion For Reduction of Sentence

As Per Amendment 821

The Petitioner Elliot Smerling, Pro Se, files this motion to reduce his sentence as now authorized under Amendment 821, which was passed by the United States Sentencing Commission on August 24, 2023. Since this amendment is retroactive, it applies to the Petitioner since the case of his sentence was his first offense.

Procedural History

The Petitioner pled guilty and was sentenced under 18 U.S.C. § 1344, Bank Fraud, and 15 U.S.C. § 78j(b) & 78ff; 17 CFR 240.10b-5, on May 13, 2022. He was sentenced under level 30 and received a sentence of ninety-seven (97) months and three (3) years of supervised release.

Procedural History of Amendment 821

The Sentencing Commission gave notice of final action regarding retroactive application of Parts A and B, subpart 1 of Amendment 821 on September 1, 2023. The effective date of this amendment is November 1, 2023. However, as a result of the special instruction, any order reducing a defendant's term of imprisonment based on retroactive application of Part A or Part B, Subpart 1 of Amendment 821 cannot take effect until February 1, 2024 or later.

Section 3582 (c) of title 18, United States Code, provides that “in case of a defendant who has been sentenced to a term of imprisonment based on a sentencing range that has been subsequently lowered by the Sentencing Commission pursuant to 994(o), upon motion of the defendant or the Director of the Bureau of Prisons, or on its own motion, the court may reduce the term of imprisonment, after considering the factors set forth in section 3553(a) to the extent they are applicable, if such a reduction is consistent with applicable policy statements issued by the Sentencing Commission.” Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. 994(u).

“If the commission reduces the term of imprisonment recommended in the guidelines applicable to a particular offense or category of offenses, it shall specify in what circumstances and by what amount the sentences of prisoners serving terms of imprisonment for the offense may be reduced.” The Commission lists in §1B1.10 (Reduction in Term of Imprisonment as a Result of Amended Guideline Range (Policy Statement) the specific amendments that the court may apply retroactively under 18 U.S.C. 3582 (c)(2).

As specified in subsection (d), the parts of Amendment 821 that are covered by this policy statement are Parts A and B, Subpart I only, subject to the special instruction as subsection (e)(2). Part A amended §4A1.1(Criminal History Category) to limit the overall criminal history impact of “status points” (i.e., the additional criminal history points given to defendants for the fact of having committed the instant offense while under the criminal justice sentence, including probation, parole, supervised release, imprisonment, work release, or escape status).

Part B, Subpart 1 created a new Chapter Four guideline at §4C1.1(Adjustment for Certain Zero-Point Offenders) to provide a decrease of two levels from the offense level determined under Chapters Two and Three for defendants who did not receive any criminal history points under Chapter Four, Part A and whose instant offense did not involve specified aggravating factors.

In making this determination, the Commission considered the following factors, among others: (1) the purpose of the amendment; (2) the magnitude of the change in the guideline range made by the amendment; (3) the difficulty of applying the amendment retroactively. See §1B1.10, comment on background.

Applying those standards to Amendment 821, the Commission determined that among other factors:

- (1) The purpose of these targeted amendments is to balance the Commission's mission of implementing data-driven sentencing policies with its duty to craft penalties that reflect the statutory purposes of sentencing and to reflect "advancement in knowledge of human behavior as it relates to the criminal justice process. "See 28 U.S.C. 991(b).

In relation to Part A, the Commission determined that accounting for status on a more limited basis continues to serve the broader purposes of sentencing while also addressing other concerns raised regarding the impact of status points.

In implementing Part B, the Commission sought, in part, to fulfil one of its core congressional directives to ensure that "the guidelines reflect general appropriateness of imposing a sentence other than imprisonment in cases in which the defendant is a first- time offender who has not been convicted of a crime of violence or an otherwise serious offender. "See 28 U.S.C. (j).

The Commission further to determined that the changes made by Part B, Subpart 1 reflect its statutory mission to provide for penalties that are "sufficient, but not greater than necessary" by recognizing that individuals with zero criminal history points have considerably lower recidivism rates than other sentenced individuals, as well as the fact that courts generally depart and vary more often in cases involving individuals with zero criminal history points as compared with other individuals.

- (2) The commission determined that the changes in Parts A and B, Subpart 1 of Amendment 821 would meaningfully impact the sentence of many currently incarcerated individuals.
- (3) The commission determined that applying Part A of Amendment 821 retroactively, requiring the recalculation of criminal history points and making the determination as to whether the individual would fall within a lower criminal points history category, presents minimal difficulty.

The Amendment, in part, provides that Part B, Subpart 1, of Amendment 821 creates a new Chapter Four guidelines at § 4C1.1; providing a decrease of two levels from the Offense level determined under Chapters Two and Three of the Federal Sentencing Guidelines for defendants like Michael who have zero criminal history points.

To receive such a reduction, a defendant must meet all the following criteria.

- (1). The defendant did not receive any criminal history points for Chapter Four, Part A; Elliot did not receive any criminal history points;
- (2) The defendant did not receive an adjustment under §3A1.4 (Terrorism); Elliot did not;
- (3) The defendant did not use violence or credible threats of violence in connection with the offense; Elliot did not;
- (4) The offense did not result in death or serious bodily injury; Elliot did not;
- (5) The instant offense of conviction is not a sex crime; Elliot was not;
- (6) The defendant did not personally cause financial hardship; Elliot did not,
- (7) The defendant did not possess, receive, purchase, transport, sell, or otherwise dispose of a firearm or other dangerous weapon (or induce another participant to do so) in connection with the offense; Elliot did not;
- (8) The instant offense of conviction is not covered by §2H1.1 (Offenses involving individual rights); Elliot did not;
- (9) The defendant did not receive an adjustment under §3A1.1 (Hate Crime Motivation or Vulnerable Victim) or § 3A1.5 (Serious Human Rights Offense); Elliot did not;
- (10) Under §3B1.1 (Aggravating Role) and was not engaged in a continuing criminal enterprise, as defined in 21 U.S.C. § 848; Elliot did not.

Based upon the above, Elliot is eligible for the adjustment as provided by Amendment 821. Since a financial crime, the only criteria to be examined is number 6, Elliot did not personally cause financial hardship.

In determining if “substantial financial hardship” to a victim, the Court under Amendment 792, shall consider, among other factors, whether the offense resulted in the victim-

- (1) Becoming insolvent; that did not occur in this case;

- (2) Filing for bankruptcy under the Bankruptcy Code (Title 11, United States Code); that did not occur in this case;
- (3) Suffering substantial loss of retirement, education, or other saving investment" that did not occur in this case;
- (4) Making substantial changes to his or her employment, such as postponing his or her retirement plans; that did not occur in this case;
- (5) Making substantial changes to his or her living arrangements, such as relocating to a less expensive home; that did not occur in this case; And
- (6) Suffering substantial harm to his or ability to obtain credit. That did not occur in this case.

That did not occur in this case because the victims in this case were all Financial Institutions which are in fact still thriving in their businesses. Victims are listed in Exhibit A.

Reason why Petitioner is Eligible

In accordance with the Application Notes of the Amendment (Section B(iii)), the Honorable Court may take into account the Petitioner's Post Sentencing Conduct. To that end, I can evidence that I have done the following:

- (1) Completed two (2) year Paralegal Course with Blackstone;
- (2) Completed the following courses from Aleph Institute- "Sparks of life program." See Exhibit B;
- (3) Completed course in Money Smart- Advanced Level;
- (4) Currently only facilitator in Money Smart at FCI Miami-Camp;
- (5) Completed "Camp Nutrition Wellness Class."
- (6) Completed "Camp Music Class."
- (7) Completed "Brain Health Age: You Make a Difference."
- (8) Completed "FSA Health and Wellness Through Lifespan."
- (9) Recidivism Risk Assessment 1", which is minimal.

Elliot also maintains a job and is actively involved in religious services and attends weekly Shabbat Services as well as all the Jewish Holidays.

Elliot is a family man and his wife and children are an integral part of his life. His family misses his guidance and financial support and the need for him to be again the head of the family unit.

Elliot recognizes and acknowledge that the Amendment states "The court shall not order a reduced term of imprisonment based on Part A or Part B, subpart of Amendment 821 unless the effective date of the court's order is February 1, 2024, or later." This provision empowers courts to grant a reduction and recalculation prior to February 1, 2024, so long as it does not go into effect prior to such date.

The Amendment specifically notes in referencing Section 1B1.10(a) 3, that the two-level reduction does not constitute a "resentencing" by noting "Consistent with subsection (b), proceedings under 18 U.S.C. § 3582(c)(2) and this policy statement do not constitute a full sentencing for the defendant." For that reason, Elliot requests a recalculation of my sentence and not a resentencing.

Based upon the above discussion in fact and law, I humbly request that this Honorable Court to reduce my sentencing calculation by two-levels from Federal Sentencing Guideline Level Thirty (30) to level twenty-six (28) and recalculate his sentence accordingly, to be effective from and after February 1, 2024.

Conclusion

WHEREFORE, the Court within its discretion grant this motion, order a two-level reduction of my sentence calculation under the Federal Sentencing Guidelines, and recalculate my sentencing reflecting the aforementioned two-level reduction, to be effective as of February 1, 2024.
